

Rio Rancho Public Schools
Grade K-2
Technology Code of Conduct

A good computer user:

1. Uses the computer for school work and in a manner consistent with teacher instructions.
2. Does not use the computer to hurt people's feelings or their work.
3. Respects the computer as school property and does not damage or break the computer or computing systems (e.g., printers, external devices).
4. Reports broken equipment or problems with using a computer to a teacher.
5. Does not use the computer to look at, send or print bad or mean messages or pictures.
6. Respects the environment; does not waste paper or ink by printing too much.
7. Respects the rights of others; does not go into another person's folders, work, or files without permission.
8. Acts responsibly; immediately tells an adult if his or her computer shows bad words or pictures.
9. Accepts responsibility; always follows teacher's directions, and expects to be disciplined for misuse of the computer.
10. Does not use the school computer to disclose personal information, such as full name, home address, telephone number, school address, or parents/guardians' names on the Internet.
